

Remember that each new row is formed by combining the two above it.

The sum cannot go beyond the left-most column.

There will never be a row of light bulbs that is completely off.

