

In this style of logic maze, you need to get from the start to the finish by only turning right. Try to avoid unnecessary repetitions of your path and watch out for inescapable loops.

Remember, you're not allowed to turn left! Even in this innocuous intersection, you cannot "go straight" – what you are really doing is taking a left followed by a quick right. The only legitimate option here is to turn right.

If you have trouble keeping track of which way a turn to the right is, another way to think about it is to keep turning in a clockwise direction.
